FOREWORD

Twenty years is about all the time I felt I could spend on the research of the Stone genealogy. I didn't find as much as I would have liked, but one has to call a halt some time.

Another reason it is not as complete as I wanted it is that some of the people now living did not answer my correspondence, for whatever reason. Perhaps they didn't wish to be included.

Some time elapsed between the time of my last correspondence and the time the book was published so, unfortunately, it is not completely up-to-date. There are changes in the lives of many of you.

I am certainly grateful to all who helped me collect information on the family. I found several relatives I didn't know I had and many whom I have never met. I wish I could know you all better.

Errors will creep in although I have tried to be accurate. Please let me know if you find errors.

I hope you will start where I left off and continue on with records or your own families. Don't forget to include places as well as names and dates. These things are forgotten so quickly.

I didn't find any very famous people among us, but neither did I find any people of ill repute. My policy has been to make no moral judgements.

I hope you enjoy the book.

INTRODUCTION

When I started research on this genealogy I had hoped to get back at least as far as our immigrant ancestor, but I was not successful in this and had to stop with my great grandparents. Our ancestors apparently were poor farmers and shoemakers and didn't make a very big "splash" in this world, especially in the early days, and there weren't many records on them.

Records in the 1700's and early 1800's are not always easy to find and many don't exist. Stone and Tuttle were common names in the New England states and New York and, because I didn't know the given names, it was impossible for me to make the right connections.

To help distinguish people I have numbered the generations beginning with the earliest, Henry and Tabitha (Tuttle) Stone, as (1). Their children are (2), etc.

I have used the abreviations for states that the Post Office uses (NY, VT, MA, WA, etc.); ca means about or approximately (referring to time); dates appear with the day of the month preceding the month; Co. means county. The index is for names only.

The maps I have drawn are not completely accurate but are used to show approximate size, shape, and location.

Several of my old pictures I would like to have included are too faded and would not reproduce well.

More of the book is devoted to descendants of Norman Mark Stone than to those of the other children of Henry and Tabitha. There are also many descendants of their youngest child, James Edward. The rest of them either didn't have many descendants or else I couldn't find them.

(1)HENRY STONE AND TABITHA TUTTLE

Henry was born 4 May 1788 according to the family Bible in posession of his daughter, Mary. His son, Burchard, copied the statistics from the Bible and sent them to various relatives. Unfortunately the Bible gave only dates and not places. I have tried to find the latter from other sources. Some of the census records of some of his children say Henry was born in Vermont, some say Massachusetts, and some say New York. Burchard's death certificate says VT. He seemed to be a more reliable source than some of the others and I feel that Henry was probably born in VT, but I have no idea where in VT.

Many records in the New England states and New York have been searched to find Henry's parents but without success. I have no idea what his father's given name was. Stone was a common name in that area at that time and it was impossible to connect Henry with any of the records found.

The name Stone is probably of English origin and our immigrant ancestor probably came from England. One of Henry's sons always said he was of Welsh descent, according to a grandaughter. This could have been through a maternal line.

Henry married TABITHA TUTTLE 6 September 1818 probably in NY, county not known. We have nothing but the Bible record for this marriage. Their oldest child was born in NY according to census records (in 1819) so it is a guess that they were married in NY. The Bible says Tabitha was born 9 August 1800. Most of the censuses say in NY, but one or two say in MA. The maiden name of Tuttle was found in Burchard's death certificate. Nothing is known of Tabitha's parents. Tuttle is also a common name in the New England and New York areas. Burchard's obituary said that he was born in Delaware Co., NY, in 1833. I was not able to find any record of this family in that county.

All the children of Henry and Tabitha were probably born in NY except the three youngest. Also according to Burchard's obituary, the family moved to La Porte Co., Indiana, in 1837. They were found there in the 1840 through 1870 censuses.

Henry was a shoemaker. According to a grandaughter, he tanned his own hides and made shoes for special customers. In those early days shoe manufacturing in local areas was very important because travel and transportation was so difficult.

The family was found in Clinton Township toward the southern part of the county. Michigan City was the larger town where they went to church and did some of their shopping.

Henry died 21 January 1845 in La Porte Co. and was probably buried near his home, but no record has been found of a burial place.

Tabitha married second MICHAEL SWANK 3 January 1846 in La Porte Co. Nothing is known of Michael except that a grandaughter of Tabitha said that he apparently was a hired hand and that the children were very disappointed when she married him. This marriage did not last long and there was a divorce before a year had passed.

Tabitha married third ABRAM HUSE (Hughes on the marriage record, also found as Hughs. Members of the family had usually used the spelling of Huse.) 29 January 1847 by a Justice of the Peace in La Porte Co. He was probably born 1793-1796 in Ohio. At the time of this marriage he was probably a widower with several children. In the 1850 census six children of his were at home. He was a farmer. They continued to live in Clinton Township of La Porte Co.

In History Of La Porte County, Indiana by Packard, published in 1876, was found the following account, information for which the author found in the minutes of the Board meatings of the Congregational Church in Michigan City: "During the pastorate of Mr. Colton, in September 1847, an incident occurred which is worthy of mention, as illustrating the cautious watchfulness of the church in the matter of domestic morals. A widow lady, Tabitha Stone, was a member of the church and in course of time married a Mr. Swank. From some cause the marriage was not a happy one. She procured a divorce and not long afterward married a Mr. Hughes. A charge was promptly brought against her in the church that she had violated christian duty. It was brought in due form before the proper authority, and a hearing was had. It was decided that 'though she (Mrs. Hughes) pleads Civil Custom and the practice of the church members in self-justification, and asserts her ignorance of the binding force of the divorce law given by our Saviour in the Gospel as recorded by Mathew, and deems her act right, after reflection and prayer, yet in the opinion of this church, she erred in not delaying her acts of divorce and remarriage until she could inquire and come to a correct judgement. Her fault, however, not bearing evidence of wilfulness, but, it would seem, being a sin of ignorance, she was hearby admonished to sin no more in a like act.' It is plain that the church did not wish the uxorious sister to fall into a habit of divorce and remarriage, or that the example she had given should be followed by others."

Tabitha must have been busy with seven of her own children and six of Abram's. However, her oldest was probably married and away from home by that time and the next two may have been working away from home at least part of the time.

Tabitha died 1 August 1871 and was buried in Eahart Cemetery, probably near her home. Abram died 20 August 1871 in La Porte Co. His burial place is not known. It is unusual that their deaths were so close together.

VERMONT

Vermont is situated in the northwest corner of New England. It is bordered on the north by Canada, on the east by New Hampshire, on the south by Massachusetts, and on the west by New York.

The surface of the state is generally uneven and mountainous. The Green Mountains run through the state north to south.

Vermont wasn't really settled until about 1760 because it was too dangerous. From 1638 to 1760 there were many skirmishes between the French in Canada and the English, which usually also involved the Indians. That area was a thoroughfare for one side to get at the other. In 1760 the British defeated the French in Canada and the warfare settled down. Before that time there were a few military posts. When things became more peaceful settlers began moving in.

There was trouble again when New Hampshire claimed some of the land and New York claimed some of the same land. Some of the settlers who had paid New Hampshire for their land were later expected to pay New York for it.

Vermont became independent in 1777. They formed a constitution and had their first election in 1778. The part that New York had claimed and the part that New Hampshire had claimed became part of Vermont in 1781. It was admitted to the Union in 1783 after the treaty with Great Britain at the end of the Revolutionary War.

During the Revolutionary War there were a number of battles in Vermont. The Americans lost several of them. There was a Naval engagement on Lake Champlain.

Vermont became a state in 1791 with Montpelier as the capitol. Most of the towns in the state were established in the late 1700's or early 1800's.

The state had quite a bit of timber with evergreens in the mountains and sugar maple, beech, birch, bass, ash, elm, butternut, cherry, hornbeam, spruce, and hemlock elsewhere.

The farmers raised horses, cattle, and sheep, and grew crops of corn, wheat, and rye, oats, peas, beans, potatoes, apples, and vegetables. Fruits, nuts, and berries, both wild and cultivated, were plentiful.

Vermont also had quarries of slate and marble and settlers of many different nationalities came to work in them.

The climate has extremes of both cold and hot.

Our ancestor, Henry Stone, is said to have been born in Vermont in 1788, but we don't know where in Vermont he was born.

EARLY DELAWARE COUNTY, NEW YORK

Delaware Co. was first a part of Albany Co. and then of Ulster and Otsego Counties. It was created from these last two counties in 1797. It is located in southeastern New York bordering on Pennsylvania and is surrounded by Broome, Chenango, Otsego, Schoharie, Greene, Ulster, and Sullivan Counties. The Delaware River has east and west branches running through the county and borders it on the southwest. Delhi was made the capitol (county seat) in 1798.

The first treaties were signed with the Indians in 1770. At that time the population of all of New York, which included tha entire state of Vermont, was only 168,000 living mostly on Long Island and along the Hudson River.

Before the Revolutionary War there were probably no more than 100-150 settlers in the Delaware Co. area. One of the reasons was that the Indians were quite troublesome. During the war they sided with the British and harassed, massacred, and destroyed settlers and settlement. They killed many and others left. After the war most of the Indians moved on west and more settlers moved in.

If settlers couldn't afford to buy land an arrangement was made so that they could lease it. There were several different kinds of leases. There was one arrangement in which the settler could live on the land for seven years and then start paying rent. Since our ancestors, Henry and Tabitha (Tuttle) Stone, were known to have been in Delaware Co. in 1833, and no land records have been found for them, one wonders if they had leased land under this arrangement.

The county had many wild sugar maple trees and the settlers learned how to make sugar and syrup enough to ship out. There was farming and cattle raising. There was also lumbering, but the trees were all cut early.

They started building churches in the county about 1816. They were mostly Methodist and Presbyterian. Before that they had circuit riding ministers.

New York first supported schools in 1811. The state paid part and the local community paid part. The county was divided into districts. The state began to support libraries in 1838.

EARLY LA PORTE COUNTY, INDIANA

La Porte County is in the northwest corner of Indiana. It is bordered on the north by Michigan, on the east by St. Joseph Co., on the south by the Kankakie River, and on the west by Porter Co. and Lake Michigan.

In the north there is timber and in the center, east to west, there is prairie which is said to be fertile for wheat growing. There are sandy hills and ridges.

La Porte Co. was created in 1832. There were only about 100 families living there then.

The county was divided into townships. Our ancestors, Henry and Tabitha Stone, were found in Clinton Township in the 1840 census. They were said to have settled in La Porte Co. in 1837. This township was created in 1836. At that time it was on the southern boundary of the county on the west side. The county has since been extended southward. Most of it is prairie with groves of timber and sandy barrens. Oak was the principal timber. Hog Creek runs across the county and waters it. Most of the land was of good quality and they raised grain.

Many new settlers arrived in the 1830's and 1840's and some villages were setlled. Haskell village was settled 1854-1855. There was a store and a post office in 1857, a blacksmith in 1858, and a warehouse, grain depot, and railroad station in 1861. Bigelow Mills had a store in 1836, a grist mill in 1837, a blacksmith shop and cabinet jobbing shop in 1838, and a post office. There was a school for each neighborhood.

There were many volunteers from La Porte Co. during the Civil War. There were numerous regiments, companies, and batteries in infantry and cavalry. Most served three years and most were mustered in in Lafayette or Indianapolis, IN. James E. Stone was in the 15th Regiment, Company G, and Henry H. Stone was in the 99th Regiment, Company K.

The first newspapers in the county were in the towns of Michigan City and La Porte. They were small weekly papers and most were short lived.

MICHIGAN CITY, INDIANA

Although our Stone ancestors really lived in Clinton Township about fifteen miles south of Michigan City, they were usually connected with Michigan City by descendants. It was the largest town in La Porte Co. and probably where they did most of their shopping. Tabitha Stone Huse went to church there.

Michigan City is located on Lake Michigan almost directly across from Chicago.

Indiana became a part of Northwest Territories in 1787 - then governed by the United States. In 1800 the Territory of Indiana was created. The first settlers in the area were probably Indians, traders, and soldiers. The Michigan City area was a part of Michigan until 1816 when Indiana became a state. Indiana wanted a harbor on Lake Michigan and there was much controversy between the two states, but Indiana finally won and the border was moved ten miles north so that Michigan City could be in Indiana.

In 1836 there was a treaty with the Pottawattomie Indians and most of them moved farther west.

Michigan City was laid out in 1832 and had its first settlers in 1833. At that time this town and Chicago were the same size, both were small. It was at the head of Trail Creek and the land was very swampy, but they thought they could make a harbor. There was a lot of competition between Chicago and Michigan City, but Chicago had a better place for a port and got Federal money to develope it.

Most of the settlers were easterners. When the Stones arrived in 1837 there were houses, stores, warehouses, taverns (hotels), a brick yard, and mills on Trail Creek. Larger boats had to anchor out in the lake and use lighters to get into town.

There was a land boom 1833-1837, and a business

Panic in 1837. In 1830 a post office and mail route on horseback was established. Stages passed through from Chicago and Detroit. There was a tannery, blacksmith shop, tinner, hardware and grocery stores. The first newspaper was started in 1835. There were two physicians, a Justice of the Peace, and lawyers.

Most of the roads in the county were mere paths. In 1836 there was an appropriation to fix up the harbor, but not much was done to it until 1870. This was Indiana's only harbor at that time, but there were many losses of ships because of severe storms on Lake Michigan and there was inadequate protection of the harbor.

Fish and lumber were items of commerce and there were two tanneries. They did some tanning of hides of wild animals, too.

Another industry at this time natural to the place and one able to hold its own against eastern producers was the manufacture of shoes and heavy boots for the neighborhood. For miles around farmers and settlers came to Michigan City to purchase these necessary articles. In 1846 one man employed forty workmen as cobblers. There were several other small factories.

Henry Stone was a shoemaker and was said to have tanned his own hides. It is not known whether or not he sold his shoes in Michigan City. His oldest son, Charles, was found in Michigan City in the 1850 census and his occupation was given as shoemaker.

In 1840 the population of Michigan City was less than 1000 and it didn't grow very fast. By 1849 many of the people were moving on to Oregon, Washington, and California.

Schools and churches were planned for in the beginning. A state uniform educational system was operative by 1853.

The first railroad passed through Michigan City in 1852.

The population of Michigan City now is about 39,369 and that of the county seat, La Porte, is 22,140. The whole county has a population of 105,342. Gary, Indiana, is located in another county at the southern tip of Lake Michigan and has a population of 175,445. It has a better harbor than Michigan City.

(2)CHARLES HENRY STONE AND FIDELIA

Charles was born 21 May 1819 in New York, a son of Henry Stone and Tabitha Tuttle. He went with his family to La Porte Co., IN, ca 1837.

He married FIDELIA _____ probably in the early 1840's in La Porte Co. She was born ca 1824 in NY according to the censuses. Nothing is known of her parents.

The 1850 census shows them living in Michigan City, IN. Charles was a shoemaker. They had four children at that time and had another child ca 1852.

There was a vague story handed down which I heard from two different descendants of Charles' brother, Norman. Apparently Charles disappeared, probably in the early 1850's, and under peculiar circumstances. He was not heard of again. Foul play was suspected. I have not been able to prove or disprove this story.

Fidelia married Thomas Mooney 10 October 1854 in La Porte Co. Nothing further is known of him. The 1860 census shows Fidelia without a husband and with two children named Mooney. She was still in Michigan City. She was in Michigan City with her three youngest children still at home in 1870. Nothing further is known of her.

Children of Fidelia and Charles: (3)

1. William E. - Born ca 1845 probably in Michigan City. He was found in the 1860 census. Nothing more is known of him.
2. Henry H. - Born ca 1846 in Michigan City.
3. Robert L. - Born ca 1847 in Michigan City. He was found in the 1860 census. Nothing more is known of him.
4. Arietta(sp?) - Born ca 1849 in Michigan City. She was found in the 1850, but not in the 1860 census.
5. Daniel W. - Born in 1852 in Michigan City. He was found in the 1860 and 1870 censuses. He married MARY OTT 29 June 1874 in La Porte Co. Nothing further is known of him.

Children of Fidelia and Thomas Mooney:

1. Mary C. - Born ca 1854 or 1855 in Michigan City.
2. Thomas P. - Born ca 1856 in Michigan City.

They were found in the 1860 and 1870 censuses, but nothing further is known of them.

(3)HENRY H. STONE was born ca 1846 probably in Michigan City, La Porte Co., IN, a son of Charles and Fidelia Stone.

He enlisted during the Civil War in Company K, 99th Regiment of Indiana Infantry 25 December 1862 in Indianapolis, IN, and was mustered out in Washington, D.C. and discharged in Indianapolis in 1865. He had been stationed in Mississippi and Atlanta, GA, as well as other places. His military and pension records say he was 18 years of age, 5 ft., 6 in. tall, hazel eyes and light brown hair. His occupation was given as farmer. He was actually not more than 17 when he enlisted. His rank was Private all during the War.

He married first LIDDIA ANN SCHAFFER 16 August 1867 probably in Michigan City. She was born ca 1851 in IN. Nothing is known of her parents. She died in Michigan City some time between 1870 and 1897.

Henry had been ill in the service a number of times, especially during 1863 and 1864, with diarrhea. Apparently he continued to have chronic diarrhea in the 1880's and 1890's. He tried for several years to get a disability pension because of this. He had to get affidavits from several people at different places and different times, plus a lot more red tape. He finally was able to receive a pension of $10 a month until his death 29 November 1907.

Henry married second EMERLINE (sp?) JONES 6 August 1897 in Elizabethtown, Hardin Co., IL. Nothing more is known of her.

Besides Michigan City Henry lived at Wanatah, IN; Galleen, MI; Roselawn, Jasper Co., IN; New Madrid, MO; Cairo, IL; and Lamb, Hardin Co., IL. Besides farming his occupation was given as fishing.

Child of Henry and Liddia: (4)

Charles - Born in September 1869 in Westville, La Port Co., IN. He was living in 1898. Nothing more is known of him.

(2)NORMAN MARK STONE, CORDELIA McNUTT, AND ELIZABETH BARRONETT

Norman was born 9 July 1827 in New York, the county is not known. He was a son of Henry Stone and Tabitha Tuttle. The family was living in Delaware Co., NY, in the 1830's and they moved from there to La Porte Co., IN, ca 1837 when Norman was about ten years of age. They settled in Clinton Township several miles south of Michigan City.

Norman's father was a shoemaker and Norman was learning the trade. Henry died when Norman was about 18 years of age so he probably hadn't learned enough to carry on the business. He apparently lived at, or near, home and worked out. His daughter, Martha, said that at one time he drove freight wagons around the country including to Chicago. He was found in La Porte Co. in the 1850 census and his occupation was given as farm laborer.

Norman married CORDELIA McNUTT 24 August 1852. The place is not known. A marriage record has never been found. Their third child, Henry, was born in Wright Co., IA. No records have been found of them in that county, but they must have lived there for a while. The marriage records in that county don't go back far enough to show whether or not they were married in that county. Cordelia was born 27 November 1828 probably in OH (according to the 1870 census). The names of her parents are not known.

Norman and Cordelia moved to Pawnee Co., NE, in the southeast corner of the state in 1867. They were found there in the 1870 Federal census. Norman's occupation was given as shoemaker in one census and farmer in another. It is believed he mainly made shoes for his family. There were other McNutts in the census in that area. They were probably Cordelia's brothers and/or parents.

Norman and Cordelia had twelve children, but many of them died. Cordelia died at the birth of a child 27 April 1875 in Pawnee Co. and was buried there, but her burial place has not been found.

Children of Norman and Cordelia: (3)

1. Sabra Tabitha - Born 23 May 1853 and died in September 1854.
2. Henrietta - Born 24 November 1855 and died 3 April 1867 in Pawnee Co., NE.

3. Henry Cornelius - Born 4 December 1857 in Wall City, Wright Co., IA.

4. Norman Perry - Born 13 March 1859 in IA and died 15 December 1860 in IA.

5. Amos Arthur - Born 8 November 1861 in IA and died from drowning 30 May 1865 in IA.

6. Theresa Elizabeth - Born 18 August 1863 probably in IA. She died very young, but have no date.

Norman married second ELIZABETH BARRONETT in 1876 probably in Pawnee Co. No marriage record has been found. She was born 1 September 1839 in Isle Of Man, England. The Isle Of Man is located in the Irish Sea almost equally distant from Scotland, England, Wales, and Ireland. She was a daughter of David Barron who changed his name to Barronett after he came to America in 1848. Her mother was Deborah Cowley. David was born 9 November 1805 in Isle Of Man; married 7 July 1838 in I.O.M.; and died 19 July 1849, of cholera, in Brimfield, Peoria Co., IL, and was buried there. Deborah was born 25 April 1806 in I.O.M., and died 23 July 1849 during a cholera epidemic, in Brimfield. No graves have been found for them. They left five children and Elizabeth was the oldest. The youngest was just a baby and was the only one of the five to be born in this country. Each child was taken by a different family. Elizabeth didn't have a very happy life. Not much is known of her until she went to Pawnee Co. to be near her youngest brother, Daniel Barronett. This is where she met Norman.

After having two daughters, the family moved to Brown Co. in north central Nebraska ca 1883 and settled on a farm near Plum Creek near Johnstown. Elizabeth was not very well. She had tuberculosis. She died 29 April 1891 near Johnstown and was buried in Grand Prairie Cemetery near there. Norman was not very well at that time, either. He gave his land to his son, James, and went to stay with him to be cared for. He died in 1893

NEBRASKA

Nebraska was a part of the Louisiana Purchase in 1803 and was first explored in 1804 and 1805. The first people there besides the Indians, fur traders, and missionaries were a few settlers 1820-1836. There were arguments among them whether the area should be for or against slavery. Nebraska was made a territory in 1854. Omaha was chosen as the capitol in 1855. The Territory was originally divided into eight counties: Burt, Washington, Dodge, Douglas, Cass, Pierce, Forney, and Richardson. The first formal census was taken in 1855. By that time there were eleven counties. Nemaha, Otoe, Pawnee, and Dakota counties had been added. They were mainly in southeastern Nebraska. Pierce and Forney Counties had been deleted. In 1860 there were twenty counties. A Homestead Act was passed in 1862 attracting many settlers to the area.

The Territory started working on becoming a state in 1864 and became a state in 1867, with 68 counties. The capitol was moved from Omaha to Lincoln in 1869.

Most of the wagon trains to Oregon, Washington, and California crossed Nebraska in the 1840's and 1850's and some in the 1860's - mainly following the Platte River.

Our Stone ancestors settled in four of Nebraska's counties: Otoe, Pawnee, Brown, and Banner.

OTOE COUNTY

Otoe became a county in 1855. It is located in the southeastern part of the state bordering on the Missouri River.

Fort Kearney was established there in 1846 at the present site of Nebraska City on the bank of the Missouri River. The Fort was abandoned in 1848. Nebraska City was established and became the county seat. The area also became the center for the American Fur Company.

The settlers grew corn in 1857 as their first attempt at agriculture. The land was mainly rolling prairie with many streams. It was said to be fertile. This area became a grain and fruit producing area. However, it had its share of storms, droughts, and floods.

Our ancestor, Worcester Burchard Stone, was found in the Syracuse Precinct in the censuses of the county. The town of Syracuse was established in 1871. The first Board of Trustees was appointed by the county commissioners in 1874. W.B. Stone was on this Board.

The town of Unadilla was established 29 miles west of Nebraska City on the Little Nemaha River (or Creek). The first homes were built there in 1872. There was a stockyard there in 1874 and a flouring and feed mill in 1875. A branch of the railroad went through there. Benjamin F. Stone lived in this area.

PAWNEE COUNTY

This county is also located in southeastern Nebraska, bordering on Kansas. It is watered by three streams; Mission, Plum, and Wolfe Creeks, which flow southwest into the Big Blue River. Our ancestor, Norman M. Stone, was found in Plum Creek Precinct in the censuses of this county. These streams furnished power for three mills.

The land is characterized by low undulating hills and was said to be fertile and easily cultivated. Agricultural pursuits were the raising of cerial grains, grasses, orchards, vineyards, corn, and stock. There were some coal deposits in the county.

Pawnee City is the county seat.

Norman Stone lived near the town of Burchard, but this town wasn't established until 1881 and Norman and his family left there in 1883. It was twelve miles west of Pawnee City and was really a small village.

BROWN COUNTY

This area was made a county in 1883 from unorganized territory. Norman Stone's oldest son, Henry, moved there in 1882 and Norman moved the rest of his family there in 1883, as did many others.

It is located in north central Nebraska. There were very few people living there in 1883. The availability of land was probably the drawing card. There were preemption claims, homesteads, and timber claims available. There was a Plum Creek in Brown County, mainly north of Johnstown and Ainsworth, the county seat. Norman Stone and his son, Henry, settled on Plum Creek in this county, also.

BANNER COUNTY

Banner was made a county in 1888 from Cheyenne Co. It is located in the west central part of the state bordering on Wyoming. It had a very small population then, and still has. Its county seat is Harrisburg. It was, and is, almost entirely agricultural.

Benjamin F. Stone moved there from Otoe Co. He had a homestead there for a time.

(3)HENRY CORNELIUS STONE was born 4 December 1857 in or near Wall City, Wright Co., IA, a son of Norman M. Stone and Cordelia McNutt. He moved with his family in 1867 to Pawnee Co., in the southeast corner of Nebraska. Some of his mother's relatives were probably also living there. It is not known how much schooling he had. As a young man Henry spent some time with his uncle, Burchard Stone, who had a nursery in Otoe Co., NE. He learned to graft trees, among other things, while he was there. He did a number of other things, but was probably primarily a farmer.

He married MARY ANN WHITE 29 January 1883 in Pawnee City and County, NE. She was born 18 June 1863 in Des Moines, Polk Co., IA, a daughter of Isaac N. White and Nancy Luther. She migrated with her parents from IA to Pawnee Co. in 1880. Isaac was probably born in NY; married ca 1850-1855 in Towanda, PA; and died 26 November 1883 probably in Brown Co., NE. Nancy was born in 1825 in Waverly, Clay Co., MO. She went to Pennsylvania to relatives and married there. The family moved to Iowa in 1863 and then to Pawnee Co. in 1880. They moved to Brown Co. ca 1883. After Isaac's death Nancy moved about among her children. In 1903 she went to live with Mary and Henry where she died 24 January 1908. She was buried in Grand Prairie Cemetery near Johnstown. Isaac had probably been buried there, too. Nancy is descended from a sea captain - Captain John Luther who was probably born in Great Canford, Dorcetshire, England. He probably joined the Massachusetts Bay Colony in the early 1600's. He married Elizabeth _____ in 1635. He died 1644-1645 aboard ship - killed by Indians who came to trade.

In 1883 Henry took his family by covered wagon to Brown Co., NE. He located on a pre-emption claim in Section 1, Township 31, Range 23. He built a log house and started to prepare the land for crops. He had a team of horses and five dollars to begin with. He had several crop losses from droughts and hail storms. They stayed there for three years and then moved to Almeria in Loup Co. on the North Loup River. Henry worked as a blacksmith there for three years. They then moved back to Brown Co. and lived on and worked his father's farm plus some additional land for a few years. In 1896 Henry took his homestead next to his old pre-emption land in Township 31. This was 6-8 miles northeast of the town of Johnstown on Plum Creek. He erected a dwelling, blacksmith shop, barns, and other buildings. This place contained 640 acres and was supplied with timber and water. He raised crops and had an orchard of 150 trees.

In 1909 Henry was said to have been a Socialist politically.

The family moved to the state of Washington in 1912 and settled in Skagit Co. in the little town of Bay View.

Here they had a few acres of land and an orchard of apple, pear, and prune trees. They had a cow or two and a large vegetable garden. Henry had a small blacksmith shop and was called on to do some of that kind of work for relatives and friends - mostly for free. He also had several hives of bees. He built a small smokehouse to smoke salmon caught nearby.

Most of their children were married by 1920 and were gone from home, but most of them were not far away and Henry and Mary had lots of company, especially on Sundays. Their youngest living daughter, Laura, had a rather severe form of cretinism (caused by a thyroid deficiency) and required constant care so she was always at home.

Mary had a "green thumb" and enjoyed flowers in the house and out in the yard. Her yard was always very crowded because she couldn't stand to throw any plant away.

She died from cancer at the home of her daughter, Mamie, in Mount Vernon, Skagit Co., WA, 21 (23?) May 1934(1935?). She was buried at Bay View. After her death, their oldest daughter, Dora, moved into the home and took care of her father and Laura.

Henry died 10 July 1942 in Bay View and was buried there. After his death Dora inherited the home and continued to take care of Laura for several years.

The family moved to Anacortes, Skagit Co., WA, in 1925 and stayed until probably the early 1930's and then moved back to Bay View.

When Dora's mother died she moved in with her father and took care of him and her sister, Laura. When her father died in 1942 she contimued to live in the same place and took care of Laura. Her younger daughter, Faye, stayed with her until her marriage.

As Dora grew older she developed diabetes and her vision became poor. She also had tic douloureux, a facial neuralgia which was very painful at times. She had an operation to help relieve the pain and had a stroke right after (or during) the operation. It was necessary for her to be in a nursing home where she died 25 July 1971 in Everett, Snohomish Co., WA. She was buried in the Bay View Cemetery.

Her home was left to her daughter, Faye, who was then living in Grandview in eastern Washington. She didn't live in the house. It was rented for a time and then Dora's grandson, Dale Jenkins, bought it, so it is still in the family. The house is probably about 100 years old.

He married SARAH AMELIA WRIGHT 18 April 1918 in Mount Vernon, WA. She was born 31 May 1869 in Rockfield, CT, a daughter of Lauren Wright and Amelia _____. Lauren was born and married in CT, and died at Cape Horn, Skamania Co., WA, ca 1903 or 1904 and was buried there. Amelia was born in CA and died ca 1900 at Cape Horn. Sarah had been previously married to Oscar F. McNutt, a cousin of Norman's father, and they had one son. They lived in Portland, OR. Sarah was a widow at the time of her marriage to Norman.

Sarah had had poliomyelitis when she was young and walking was difficult for her. She was able to do her own housework, but didn't walk long distances.

Norman had a home with a small amount of land in Bay View. He had a cow which he could milk. He surprised everyone with the things he could do. He knew just about everyone in this small town and could recognize their voices even though it might have been a long time since he had talked to them.

Charles was born 19 May 1860 in Laurence Co., PA; married 27 June 1882 in Raymond, KS; died in March 1940 in Anacortes, WA, and was buried in Bay View. Alice and Bill lived in Seattle, WA, most of the time during their marriage. Bill worked at various jobs, but he worked for quite a while on the construction of Coulee Dam in eastern Washington. He and Alice lived near there during that time. This was probably in the 1930's. At some time Alice had taken a course in beauty work and at times worked in various beauty shops.

Bill died 26 November 1946 while visiting relatives in Anacortes, WA. He was buried in Bay View. Alice continued to live in her home in Seattle and worked in beauty shops.

(4) IDA CORDELIA STONE was born 8 December 1901 in Brown Co., NE, a daughter of Henry C. Stone and Mary A. White. She moved with her family to Bay View, WA, ca 1912 and received most of her education there.

She married several times. Names, dates, and places are not known. She calls these "mistakes". She lived in Seattle most of this time. She worked all the time, mainly as a waitress.

Her last marriage was to IRVINE W. POOLE 6 August 1930 in San Francisco, CA. He was born 6 November 1896 in Chelsea, MA, a son of Edwin Poole who died in Edmonton, Alberta, Can., and Janet White who died in 1949 in Everett, WA, and was buried there.

Irvine's family moved to Canada when he was quite young. He went into the Canadian army when World War I started. He was probably discharged in 1918. A newspaper clipping from a paper in Calgary, Alberta, Can., dated 15 December 1915 says, "Private Irvine Poole, one of the youngest members of the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry, was gassed and hit in several places on the hip and back with shrapnel and machine gun bullets while holding trenches at Ypres. Private Poole came from Edmonton."

Irvine had been married previously to Elizabeth Strachan. They had a son, Irvine D. Poole, born 21 April 1926 in Seattle, WA. He was with his father when he and Ida were married and Ida helped raise him as her own.

Ida and Irvine lived in various places. They lived in Bay View for a time, but probably spent most of their time in Seattle. They lived in San Francisco, CA, during the 1930's.

Irvine worked for various steamship lines as a purser. He was in the Merchant Marine during World War II. He died 30 November 1948 in Seattle and was buried there.

Ida continued to live in and around Seattle until 1956 when she bought a home in Burlington, Skagit Co., WA, to be nearer other family members. She took care of an invalid younger sister, who had been in the care of her oldest sister, after that sister's death. In 1977 she sold her home in Burlington and moved to Seattle to help her sister, Alice, who was ill. In 1978 she bought a small home where she lived alone. She had a light stroke in 1985 making it harder for her to get around, but managed to stay in her home alone with some help from her step-son and his wife.

She died 25 April 1986 in Seattle. She was cremated and her remains are in Washelli Mausoleum.

IRVINE D. POOLE was born 21 April 1926 in Seattle, WA, a son of Irvine W. Poole and Elizabeth Strachan. His father married Ida C. Stone when Irvine was about four years old. He grew up mostly in San Francisco and Seattle. He was in the navy in Seattle 1944-1948.

He married first BEBE WEISKOTTEN 7 August 1951 in Seattle. Nothing more is known of her.

He married second SUE _____ who had a son, Michael, whom Irvine probably adopted. He and Sue had no children.

He married third LINDA (Betty?) _____ who had children: Michelle, Heidi Anne, and Jason. Linda and Irvine had a son, Donald E. Poole.

Irvine has lived and worked in Seattle most of the time, but for several years has had a home just east of the Cascade Mountains in central Washington. They moved to Bellevue, WA, in 1984 or 1985.

(3)JAMES EDWARD STONE was born 31 January 1866 in Pawnee Co., NE, a son of Norman M. Stone and Cordelia McNutt. He moved with his family to Brown Co., NE, ca 1883.

He married EDNA DORLESKA ORCUTT (called Leskie) ca 1889 or 1890 probably in Brown Co., NE. She was born 7 January 1863 in Dunkirk, Chataqua Co., NY, a daughter of Jacob Orcutt who was born in NY and died in Fertile, Worth Co., IA; and Mary Smith who died and was buried in Fertile.

In 1896 James and Leskie and their children left Nebraska and went to Wyoming to visit James' sister, Carrie Jones, and then took the train for San Bernardino, CA. Leskie may have had relatives in CA. While on the train Leskie became very ill and they had to leave the train at Gallup, NM. She was sick a long time. They called it mountain fever, but it was very likely typhoid fever. James became ill with the same thing and died very quickly 11 February 1896. They also had a baby said to have been about six months old who died of the same disease about the same time as his father. Both were buried in Gallup. Leskie recovered and she and her daughter, Grace, continued on to California.

Leskie didn't remarry. It is not known how she made her living. She lived in the San Francisco Bay area for a number of years. In the early 1900's she took a small girl to raise. Her mother died when she was a year and a half old and had asked Leskie to take her. The mother was a friend of Leskie's daughter, Grace.

Leskie died 28 January 1938 in Oakland, CA, and was buried there in Evergreen Cemetery.

In 1978 she moved to a home in Capitola, near Santa Cruz, CA. She had inherited this from Grace. She retired in 1979 and lived in Capitola until her death 10 September 1984.

There are no living descendants of this family.

(4)GRACE LEOTA STONE was born 29 June 1891 in Mullen, Hooker Co., NE, a daughter of James E. Stone and E. Dorleska Orcutt. She moved with her mother to California ca 1896 or 1897.

She married first WILLIAM WULFF ca 1908 or 1909 in CA. They were divorced in 1910. Nothing more is known of him.

She married second WALTER MILTON BROWN 3 July 1920 in San Francisco, CA. He was born 2 August 1887 in Los Angeles, CA. Nothing is known of his parents.

Grace and Walter lived most of their married lives in Oakland, CA. They also had a place near the ocean at Capitola, CA, and expected to retire there. It is not known what sort of work Walter did. Grace didn't work outside her home. Katherine McLeod lived with them and worked in Oakland. She and Grace were like sisters.

Walter died of cancer of the lung 4 October 1954 in Oakland and was buried there in Evergreen Cemtery. Grace continued to live in Oakland and kept the Capitola place but never did spend much time there. She died in Oakland following a stroke 20 June 1974 and was buried beside her husband.

(3)CARRIE AMANDA STONE was born 19 September 1871 in Pawnee Co., NE, a daughter of Norman M. Stone and Cordelia McNutt. Her mother died when she was about four years old and she was sent to live with her father's brother, Benjamin F. Stone, and his wife, Myranda. She stayed with them until she married. They had moved to a homestead in Banner Co., NE, bordering Wyoming.

Carrie married FRANKLIN EUGENE JONES (called Frank) 5 March 1893 at Pleasant Hill (or Hull) Banner Co., NE, just across the Wyoming line from Goshen Co. He was born 1 April 1869 in Galesburg, Knox Co., IL, a son of James Jones and Frances Mitchell. James was born in Barren Co., KY, ca 1831. Frances was born ca 1835 in KY, and died in 1871 or 1872 in Cameron, IL. Frank's paternal grandparents were Hubbard Jones and Emily Mitchell of NC and KY. James and Frances probably moved to Illinois ca 1855. All but the oldest of their six children were born there. Their children were: Martha (Mattie), Alford Burt, John L., Mary Emma, Grace (Susan), and Frank.

We get the best picture of the life and times of Frank Jones from a book, Longhorns North Of The Arkansas by his oldest son, Ralph. This covers the time period after the Civil War 1868-1908. The area covered is from the Missouri River to the Rocky Mountains and from the Arkansas River north to the Canadian border. These drives of Texas Longhorn cattle began about 1876 and the cattle trail went from Texas to Montana and crossed eastern Colorado, western Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana, western North and South Dakota. They traveled 1000 to 1500 miles.

As the plains Indians and others slaughtered more buffalo, more grass became available for cattle on the open range.

"The average trail herd moving out of the Panhandle of Texas would be made up of around three thousand head of two-year-old steers, handled by a trail crew of about twelve good trail drivers.

When the big herds swung out on the trail and pointed northward there would be two top hands riding point, with two swing men and two flank men keeping the herd pinched in and strung out on the trail. About four cowboys (generally "green men") would bring up the drag, eating the dust that would be kicked up by the big herd moving up the trail. Off to one side, or probably in front of the herd, would be the horse wrangler with his cavvy,or remuda, of about a hundred head of good cow ponies, including a few additional horses or mules, broken to harness, to be used for pulling the chuck wagon."

"The chuck wagon, with its arched wagon bows covered with canvas wagon sheet, with a mess box in the rear, and with water barrels strapped to the sides, would be loaded with enough grub and supplies to last until the next supply point. Loaded in the wagon on top of the supplies would be the bedrolls, which were the personal property of the trail drivers. Seated on the spring seat in front of the chuck wagon would be the crusty old trail cook, handling the lines on a four-up or rough-broken harness horses, with the cook's helper, generally called the pot wrestler, seated on the spring seat beside him. Asleep in the back of the wagon would be the night-hawk or night horse wrangler."

Longhorns were long-legged and rangy in build and capable of traveling long distances without water.

In the 1870's and 1880's there were several Scotch and English owned cattle operations. There were large cattle operations with thousands of cattle and millions of acres of land in several states.

Homesteads with fenced crops made it difficult to keep cattle on the open range. In 1887 Nebraska passed a "head law" and some big cattle companies moved to Wyoming.

"One cowboy who punched cows in the Powder River country in the 80's was Frank E. Jones (father of the author) who worked as a cowboy for both the CY and Ogallala outfits. He said that some of the small ranchers from the Hole-In-The-Wall country who were rustling mavericks and who were black-balled from working with the roundup wagons, would often times ride in and work the drives when the circles had been completed by the roundup crews and while the cattle were strung out, pointed toward the roundup graounds."

"One of the first jobs held by Frank Jones in Wyoming was skinning six mules on a jerk line, freighting from Fort Laramie to Fort Robinson. This was a round-trip distance of 180 miles, with the driver making camp each night alongside the wagon trail, except when he was at one of the army posts."

"After leaving Fort Laramie Frank continued to work for several Wyoming cattle outfits over a period of time until the summer of 1889 when he took the job as foreman for Hi Kelly on the Y Cross (Y) Ranch where he remained for the next nine years.

Only a short distance to the east the Texas-Montana cattle trail passed and the heavy dust clouds being raised by the trail herds moving up the trail could be seen from the Y Cross ranch house almost any time of day. There was a store and a warehouse for supplies for the trail herders about a quarter of a mile east of the Y Cross ranch house."

While he was at the Y Cross ranch Frank and Carrie were married and they lived in a log house on this ranch until after the births of their daughter, Ethel, and their son, Ralph.

"__ _ _ _ Hi Kelly soon developed an interest in his hard working and ambitious ranch foreman and helped him in every way possible to get a start for himself. This included allowing him to run some cattle of his own at the ranch without charge. Frank registered his own brand, the Forty-Four Connected (44). He used the same brand for the next sixty years."

"In 1898 Hi Kelly sold all his ranches and permanently retired from the cattle business. Frank now had about 200 head of cattle of his own. He bought a small ranch about 20 miles south of the Y Cross. This also was near the Texas-Montana trail and he continued to trade with the cattle herders. They had a log cabin for a house. _ _ _ _ _ They had only one neighbor in a ten-mile radius."

"In 1903 Frank sold the ranch on Bushnell Creek and bought a larger one on Bear Creek three miles west of La Grange. Over a period of years he and his three sons built up a good sized cattle operation in the area around La Gange and the Goshen Hole country."

Carrie and Frank continued to live on the ranch on Bear Creek. Carrie was kept very busy with raising six children, cooking for extra hands on the ranch, gardening, and household duties.

She died of cancer 1 November 1938 in Denver, CO, and was buried in Cheyenne.

Frank continued to live on the ranch for a time. He remarried to Grace Beck Foreman probably in Torrington, WY. The date is not known. They lived in a little house on the ranch for a few years. His son, Burt, and his wife took over the running of the ranch.

Although his sons used motorized vehicles as much as possible to travel around their ranches, Frank liked to ride around on a horse. He continued to do this until he was quite old even though he had to be helped into the saddle.

Frank and Grace moved to an apartment in Torrington where he died 22 July 1952. He was buried in Cheyenne. Grace died some time after he did.

(4)RALPH FRANKLIN JONES was born 8 November 1895 in Goshen Co., WY, on the Y Cross Ranch on Horse Creek about five miles northwest of the little "cow town" of La Grange.

He remembered,as a small boy, seeing the great clouds of dust produced by the large trail herds going north from Texas and other places in the south. The owner of the ranch, H.B. "Hi" Kelly, was like a grandfather to him and gave him a saddle when he was small. He moved with his family to a smaller ranch his father had bought on Bushnell Creek in 1898.

In his book, Longhorns North Of The Arkansas, Ralph describes the home on Bushnell Creek as a log cabin with a slab pine floor and a dirt roof. Here he and his sister, Ethel, hunted for arrowheads along the creek. Once they found a deserted ant hill covered with Indian beads. They returned the next day with a shovel and found more beads and an old rifle. They also found an Indian had been buried there. The Indian had probably been killed there and was buried in a shallow grave with his personal belongings. They put the rifle back and covered up the Indian, but kept the beads.

They had only one neighbor within a ten mile radius of this ranch. This was buffalo country and Ralph remembered buffalo heads with hides and curly brown hair still attached, a reminder that they had been killed by the thousands just for the hides.

In 1902 or 1903 he moved again with his family to a larger ranch on Bear Creek.

He later "repped" for a Two Bar outfit when it was going out of business and was down to one roundup wagon. They were gathering the last remnants of once great herds for shipment to cattle markets because of depletion of the range. He joined them at Fox Creek with his string of cow ponies. This was about the last of the open-range era.

Ralph married first ARIEL A. AUX 18 June 1917 in Greeley, Weld Co., CO. She was born 19 December 1898 in Elbert, Elbert Co., CO, a daughter of Wallace Aux and Mary Emma Baldwin. Wallace was born probably in 1869 in Elbert; married in 1891 in Elbert; and died in 1898 in Elbert. Mary was born 30 January 1871 in Elbert, and died 21 April 1918 in Greeley, CO, and was buried in Elbert.

Ralph enlisted in the U.S. Army during World War I in 1917 and was sent to France. He was still in the service when Ariel died during an influenza epidemic 6 February 1919 in Cheyenne, WY, leaving a small baby.

Ralph married second MARY ELIZABETH TURNEY 2 June 1921 in Corona, Riverside Co., CA. She was born 1 November 1895 in Georgetown, Clear Creek Co., CO, a daughter of John Martin Turney and Annie Wright Renfro. John was born 13 May 1851 in Bourbon Co., KY; married 2 April 1889 in Brownington, probably Sullivan or Lynn Co., MO; died 17 January 1917 in Golden, Jefferson Co., CO, and was buried in Denver, CO. Annie was born 13 December 1866 in Boone Co., MO, and died 17 September 1960 in Sherman Oaks, CA. She was buried in Norco, CA.

Ralph and Mary lived on the 66 Ranch near La Grange, which his parents had bought in 1918. In 1923 Ralph had an operation and apparently felt ranch work was too hard and they moved to Cheyenne where he sold cars.

He moved his family to Springer, NM, in 1929 where Ralph was a Ford Automobile Dealer. In 1939 they moved to Aluquerque, NM, where he had a Ford garage and dealership. As his sons became old enough they also worked in the business.

Ralph turned his business over to his sons and retired and began working on his book in earnest. He had been doing research for it for several years but didn't actually start writing until about age 70. After it was published in 1969 he began another on the History of New Mexico called The Anglo Comes To The Sangre De Cristo. This book was never published. The manuscript was given to Arizona State University at Tempe. He also completed, ca 1978, a book-length manuscript entitled, The Heritage Of Fort McKinney. This was given to the Wyoming Archives and Historical Department for review. It is not known whether or not they kept it.

While living in Springer and Albuquerque he had been active in community affairs including: Master of the Masonic Lodge in Springer, NM; Acting Mayor of Springer; President of Kiwanis in Springer; President of the Chamber of Commerce in Albuquerque; Chairman of the Highway Commission of New Mexico; Chairman of the Armed Forces Advisory Commission of New Mexico; President of Kiwanis in downtown Albuquerque; President of Kiwanis in Heights, Albuquerque.

Ralph and Mary moved to Phoenix, AZ, soon after his retirement. He engaged in the Real Estate business for a while there. Mary probably never worked outside her home. After her children were away from home she helped Ralph with the research and writing of his books. She was very helpful in furnishing material for this genealogy.

In the late 1970's, because of age and poor health, they went to Buffalo, Johnson Co., WY, to a Veterans Home where Ralph died 5 April 1980. Mary then went to live with her son, Donald, in Ventura, CA, where she died 11 August 1981. She and Ralph were both buried in Cheyenne, WY.

(3)DEBORAH JANE STONE was born 4 August 1877 in Pawnee Co., NE, in the southeastern part of the state and the southwestern part of the county in the Plum Creek Precinct. She was the first child of Norman M. Stone and Elizabeth Barronett. When she was six or seven years old the family moved to Brown Co., NE, in the north central part of the state. They settled by another Plum Creek and Deborah went to school at Johnstown.

Her mother died when she was about fourteen and her father died when she was about 15. After his death Deborah stayed with her half-brother, James, and his family for a while. She worked for others sometimes, too, doing housework and baby sitting. At one time she accompanied James and his family, Deborah riding a horse and the family going by wagon, to a hay camp owned by Joseph Rucker. Here she met his son, Olbie, her future husband. After returning from this trip she took a test to qualify for teaching, but she never did teach.

At age 16 or 17 she went to stay with her half-sister, Carrie, who was then Mrs. Frank Jones and was living on a cattle ranch in southeastern Wyoming.

At age 20 Deborah married OLBIE JACKSON RUCKER 14 April 1898 in La Grange, Goshen Co., WY. He was born 25 December 1871. The place is not known. He was the son of the above mentioned Joseph Ward Rucker and Lucinda Ann McGuire. Joseph was probably born in Ky and Lucinda was probably born in MO. Joseph probably died in South Dakota about 1925 and Lucinda died in the same place ca 1933. Olbie was working as a cowboy in Wyoming at the time of his marriage.

After working on some ranches in Wyoming Deborah and Olbie went to live on a farm in Brown Co., NE. They rented a farm known as "the Alder Place".

In 1907 they moved to Washington by "Immigrant Train" taking chickens, cows, horses, and furniture. They stopped at Mabton, WA, [near Sunnyside, WA, where her sister, Martha, was living with her family] and unloaded the car. They stayed there a few months and their daughter, Lena, went to school there. The family also got small pox there.

When they were still with their parents Deborah and Martha had a riding horse named Daisy. After the deaths of their parents Deborah kept the horse and rode it using a side saddle. The horse and saddle were taken to Washington. Daisy had a colt called Gretchen and they kept her for quite a while and then sold her to a man in the neighborhood. In the 1920's she was still around but was a rather sad sight because her teeth were so bad she couldn't eat much. She wandered the neighborhood and everyone knew her. She finally died of old age. The side saddle is still in the possession of Deborah's daughters.

In 1908 the family moved to Skagit Co., in western Washington and settled on a farm (stump ranch) of 120A near the small town of Bay View. The land was mostly wooded and had to be cleared to raise crops. This was mainly a dairy farm. Olbie also hauled shingle bolts in a sled on skid roads to a shingle mill in Bay View for a time.

Before they had lived on this place very long there was a forest fire which burned off many of the trees and left many large partly burned snags and stumps. They had a hard time to save their house.

They had been living in a small house with a small barn. Their farm was crossed by a road dividing the property into the West 80 and the East 40. Their first home was on the West 80. In about 10 years they built a much larger house and a big barn on the East 40 near the road.

They lived on this place until their deaths. Olbie died in March 1939 in Everett, Snohomish Co., WA, and Deborah died 28 August 1960 also in Everett. They were both buried in Mount Vernon, Skagit Co., WA.

(4)LENA PEARL RUCKER was born 26 February 1899 near the town of Ainsworth, Brown Co., NE, a daughter of Deborah J. Stone and Olbie J. Rucker. When she was about eight years old she moved with her family to Washington State. After attending school in the town of Bay View about two miles from home, she went to high school in Edison, about four miles away. She drove a horse hitched to a buggy to school. She graduated in 1918. The next year she went to Normal School in Bellingham (now Western Washington State University). Her first teaching job was at Padilla, a one room, all grades school about three miles from home. Her other teaching positions were in Moxee City near Yakima, Bellville, and Everett - all in Washington. She continued to teach elementary grades in Everett until her retirement in 1962.

She married ADOLPH LOUIS MILLER (known as Louis) 30 June 1928 in Everett, Snohomish Co., WA. He was born 20 November 1883 in Cannon Falls, Goodhue Co., MN, a son of Albert Miller and Ida Mahlberg. Albert was born 19 December 1854 in Geneva, Kane Co., IL; married in 1877 in Spring Garden, MN; died 24 December 1933 in Cannon Falls, MN, and was buried in Spring Garden. Ida was born 25 October 1850, place not known; died 28 December 1941 in Cannon Falls, and was buried in Spring Garden. Louis moved to Washington in 1925 and settled in Everett where he worked mainly in lumber mills.

After marriage the couple lived in Everett where Louis died 15 March 1966. He had developed Parkinsons Disease and required considerable care, but he died of a stroke.

Lena continued to live in the same home in Everett where she still lives. She retired from teaching to take care of Louis. After his death she did some substitute teaching and tutoring. Besides keeping up her home and helping her sister, Ollie, with her home in Skagit Co., she has been active in her church and in several other organizations. She had some health problems requiring a pacemaker and the use of oxygen at night, but still remained fairly active socially and otherwise. In February 1986 she had a stroke which left her unable to speak or swallow very well and with paralysis of the right arm and leg. She is now in a nursing home - Bethany Home - in Everett.

Lena and Louis had no children.

(4)OLLIE RUCKER was born 23 April 1904 near Ainsworth, NE, a daughter of Deborah J. Stone and Olbie J. Rucker. She moved with her family to Skagit Co., WA, in 1907. She went first to school in Bay View and then to Edison. She rode with her sister, Lena, by horse and buggy and later by school bus. She graduated from high school in 1923 and then attended Normal School in Bellingham for one year. After that she taught at Bow Hill, a one room school a few miles from home. In the summer of 1925 she taught at Grandy Lake, a small logging community in the hills. She went back to Normal School and finished her second year but didn't teach any more.

Ollie married GARNET BYRON MARLEY 28 April 1928 in Everett, WA. He was born 1 August 1905 in Wayne, KS, a son of Walter William Marley and Maizie Bowersox. Walter died in Seattle, WA, probably in the 1950's and was buried there. Maizie died in 1965, probably in Phoenix, OR. Garnet moved to Skagit Co., WA, in 1924 from Rapid City, SD. His family had moved to Millboro, SD, in the early 1900's. The family lived in the town of Bay View, WA.

Ollie amd Garnet lived in Anacortes, Skagit Co., WA, until her father became ill in the 1930's and they moved to her parents' farm near Bay View. They continued to operate the farm after her father's death and Ollie's mother lived with them most of the time until her death. They first had dairy cattle and then changed to beef cattle.

Garnet developed arthritis in his knees and it became gradually harder for him to get around on the farm. They sold most of their cattle. He had a stroke in 1980 and wasn't able to do any more work. He died suddenly, probably from another stroke or a heart attack, 19 May 1982, and was buried in Mount Vernon, WA.

Ollie and Garnet had no children.

She continued to live on the farm with just a few beef cattle. In 1984 she began spending more time with her sister, Lena, in Everett, and in 1985 moved to Everett and made occasional trips back to the farm. She sold all her cattle in March 1986. Since her sister is now in a nursing home, she is living alone in Everett.

(3)MARTHA MAE STONE was born 16 May 1880 in Pawnee Co. in southeastern NE, a daughter of Norman M. Stone and Elizabeth Barronett. She moved with her family to Brown Co. in north central NE in 1883. She went to school in Johnstown. Her mother had tuberculosis and was not very well most of the time. Martha spent more time with her father when she was growing up.

After the death of her parents - her mother in 1891 and her father in 1892 - she stayed for a while with her half-brother, James. She was then sent to live with her mother's youngest brother, Daniel Barronett, and his family in Ritzville, Adams Co., WA. She stayed with this family most of the time until she married. She got as much schooling as she could, but she also worked doing housework for other families. When she was eighteen she took teachers' examinations and taught, mainly in small country schools. She generally stayed with some family in the district when she was teaching.

Martha married LINCOLN LAUGHLIN 15 September 1901 in Ritzville, Adams Co., WA. He was born 17 January 1862 in Yamhill Co., OR, near North Yamhill on his parents' Donation Land Claim. He was a son of John Laughlin and Susan McCoy. John was born 12 April 1822 in Gasconade Co., MO; married 14 May 1845 in St. Charles Co., MO; died 8 July 1876 in North Yamhill, OR. Susan was born 6 March 1823 in St. Charles Co., and died in November 1909 in Bellingham, Whatcom Co., WA. She and her husband were both buried in Yamhill, OR.

After the death of his father, Lincoln and his mother and two younger sisters sold the farm and moved to the town of Forest Grove, Washington Co., OR, where he attended Tualatin Academy [later Pacific University]. He taught school in Washington and Oregon. For a time he had a homestead in Adams Co., WA. At the time of his marriage he was Auditor of Adams Co. He served two terms of two years each.

Martha and Lincoln made their home in Ritzville where their two older children were born. They then moved to a wheat ranch near Lind in Adams Co. By 1908 they lived in Sunnyside in Yakima Co., WA. They also lived in Idaho in several places, and then back to Spokane, WA. Martha took some nurses training in Spokane, but didn't finish the training because she would soon have another baby and there were too many family responsibilities.

Lincoln was not very well. He had had a leg amputated below the knee because of tuberculosis of the bone that wouldn't heal, and it later spread to his lungs. He went to Banning, Riverside Co., CA, for his health. At that time Banning was almost a tuberculosis resort and it was considered the thing to do to go to a high and dry climate for treatment. His condition worsened after he got there and he had to be hospitalized. Martha and her four children went to Banning about 1912 and they bought a home on Second Street next to the hospital. Lincoln improved so that he could do a limited amount of work. Between the years of 1914 and 1918 some time was spent on a farm near Redlands, San Bernardino Co. Also during this time, their son, Auburn, became ill with tuberculosis and died. Lincoln died in November 1918. They were both buried in Banning.

To support herself and her five remaining children, Martha worked, mainly at practical nursing; part of the time at a hospital and part of the time in private homes. The children remember that she was called out in the middle of the night many times to take care of someone who was very ill. During the summer she and her daughter, Hazel, worked in a fruit cannery.

In 1923 the family moved to Skagit Co., WA, near Bay View, to be near Martha's sister, Deborah, and her half-brother Henry Stone. For about three and a half years they lived on a farm with several cows to milk, chickens, bees, and a garden. During this time Hazel attended State Normal School in Bellingham, and the other children went to school in Edison about four miles away.

In 1927 the family moved to Everett, WA. Martha managed an apartment house and worked at various other jobs. The three youngest children went to school there. In the summer of 1928 there was another move back to the town of Bay View. Martha worked at various jobs and the children attended school in Bay View and Burlington. After the youngest, Max, graduated from high school he left to attend the University of Washington in Seattle and Martha moved to Mount Vernon, WA.

In 1937 Martha moved to the University District in Seattle where she supplied board and room to Max, as well as several other male students, until Max graduated in 1939. She moved with her family to Everett in 1961 and went to South Junior High for the eighth and ninth grades, to Everett High School for the tenth grade and graduated from Cascade High School south of Everett in 1966. She attended Washington State University in Pullman and received a Bachelor degree in Art and Education in 1970.

In 1971 she went to Australia and taught art to students in the seventh through twelfth grades for nearly two years. This was in Myrtleford in the state of Victoria. While in that part of the world she traveled extensively in South East Asia, Indonesia, New Zealand, and Fiji.

When she returned to the United States she went back to WSU for one semester and then taught Art in all the schools in Dayton, Columbia Co., WA, for five years. In 1979 she moved to Sumner, Pierce Co., WA, where she taught until 1983.

In the summer of 1984 she went to the University of Washington to begin work on a Masters degree, and in the fall began teaching at an elementary school at Wilkeson, Pierce Co., WA. This is a small town between Buckley and Mt. Rainier.

Norma has remained single.

(2)SABRA S. STONE AND JOHN CORNELL

Sabra was born 17 August 1831 in New York, a daughter of Henry Stone and Tabitha Tuttle. She moved with her family to La Porte Co., IN, ca 1837. In the 1850 census she was found in Michigan City, IN, working as a housekeeper.

She married JOHN CORNELL 29 September 1852 in New Buffalo, Berrien Co., MI. He was born in December 1826 in Ohio, probably a son of Bela S. and Jane Cornell who were probably born in PA and lived in OH before going to IN. They were buried in Bush Prairie Cemetery, WA, but I don't know the dates.

In 1853 all, or most, of the Cornell family started for Oregon Territory by covered wagon - John's parents and several brothers. Sabra was pregnant and had her first child in Nebraska on the way. They arrived at what is now Tumwater, Thurston Co., WA, and all settled there on Donation Land Claims. John and Sabra applied for their claim in May 1855. They didn't get the final papers on it until 1865. This claim was located where the present Olympia Airport is and the main north-south highway (I-5) goes through it south of Olympia. They had 304A.

John was first listed as farmer and then as carpenter in the censuses. Around 1880 Sabra and John had a hotel in Olympia. Later in the 1880's they moved to Seattle. Sabra's brother, James, had purchased a rooming house in the south part of Seattle and Sabra and John ran that. In the 1900 census they were found in Battery West in Seattle (a little northwest of downtown). It is not known whether or not they had a hotel or rooming house at that time. James' daughter, Amy, was staying with them and going to school, and they were also caring for their grandaughter, Estelle Cornell.

John was buried 3 March 1908 in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery in Seattle. After his death Sabra made her home with her niece, Amy, who had married and was living in Seattle. She died in 1925 following a stroke and was also buried in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

Children: (3)

1. Mary Jane - Born in 1853 in NE on the way to WA. In an 1881 local census she was 28 and single. She probably died in the 1880's. No more is known of her.

2. Elizabeth C. - Born ca 1857 in Washington Terr. in Tumwater, Thurston Co., WA. She probably died between 1878 and 1881. She was probably single. No burial place has been found for her.

3. Marion E. - Born ca 1858 in Washington Terr.

Sabra and John also raised their grandaughter, Estelle (Essie) Cornell, her niece, Amy Stone, from age 17 until her marriage, and an orphan, Violet Barrett. Nothing more is known of her.

(3)MARION E. CORNELL was born ca 1858-1860 at Tumwater, Thurston Co., WA, a son of Sabra S. Stone and John Cornell. He was still in his parents' home in the 1881 State census.

He married NELLIE WYLIE ca 1881-1885 probably in Olympia or Seattle, WA. Nothing more is known of her except that she had previously been married to John Wylie. They had one child who was being cared for by her grand parents in the 1900 census. Nellie must have died or have been separated from Marion at that time.

Marion's occupation is not known. He was not found in the 1900 census of Seattle. He was buried 14 July 1912 in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery in Seattle, King Co., WA.

Child: (4)

Estelle (Essie) - Born ca 1886 probably in Seattle. She married MATT (Mathew ?) CARSTESEN. The date is not known but it probably took place in Seattle and probably ca 1905-1910. Nothing more is known of Matt except that he died in the 1930's, but was not buried in Mt.

Pleasant Cemetery.

Essie lived with Sabra and John Cornell until her marriage. She died in 1920 at age 34 and was buried in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery beside her grandparents. This couple probably had no children.

(2)WORCESTER BURCHARD STONE AND DELIA HART CORNELL

Worcester Burchard (clalled Burchard) was born 1 August 1833 in Delaware Co., NY, a son of Henry Stone and Tabitha Tuttle. He moved to La Porte Co., IN, in 1837 when he was four years old.

He became a school teacher and went up into Michigan to teach. While there he married DELIA HART CORNELL in 1859 in Bedford, MI. She was born 27 May 1837 in NY, a daughter of Reynolds Cornell and Dorcas Young. Reynolds was born ca 1794 in NY and probably married ca 1814-1820 in NY. Dorcas was born ca 1796 in NY. They probably went to Michigan from New York and then they all moved to Otoe Co., NE, ca 1861. They were found in the 1865 Nebraska State census in Syracuse Precinct. They probably died there.

Burchard and Delia and their oldest daughter moved to Otoe Co. in 1861. Burchard taught school for 24 years and then had a nursery and mercantile business there. They were found in the 1865 census in the Delaware Precinct.

According to Burchard's obituary in the Ontario, CA, Daily Report, Burchard was self-educated and taught school for 24 years. Delia also taught many years. They moved to Syracuse, NE, in 1861 and took a homestead under the first Homestead Act. Burchard and Delia moved to California in 1891 with their two surviving children, the two youngest.

Land records have been found for Burchard and Delia in Otoe Co. from 1862-1867. He received a patent on his homestead in 1862.

Burchard was a good correspondent and kept the families of his brothers and sisters informed of each other. He sent the data from his parents' family Bible, which was kept by his sister, Mary, to his surviving brothers and sister, nieces and nephews.

Burchard and Delia lived in or near Ontario, San Bernardino Co., CA, but he died 27 December 1915 at Wineville, Riverside Co., CA. He was buried in Ontario. Delia survived him by ten years. During her later years she was not well and not clear mentally. She lived with her son, Oliver, near Riverside and was cared for by his wife and his sister, Mary. She died 11 January 1925 in Riverside, CA. She was also buried in Ontario in Bellevue Cemetery.

Children: (3)

1. Eudora M. - Born ca 1860 or 1861 in MI.
2. Edith - Born 1863 in Otoe Co., NE. Nothing more is known of her. She died before 1891.

3. Glenna J. - Born ca 1866 in IA(?). She died before 1891.

4. Alice - Born ca 1869 probably in Otoe Co. She was found in the 1870 census, but not in the 1880 census. She also died before 1891.

5. Mary Elizabeth - Born ca 1871 in Otoe Co., NE.

6. Oliver Wendell - Born ca 1874 in Otoe Co.

(3)EUDORA M. STONE was born in 1861 probably in Calhoun Co., MI, a daughter of W. Burchard Stone and Delia H. Cornell. She moved with her parents that same year to Otoe Co., NE. She was shown living at home in the 1865, 1870, and 1880 censuses of Otoe Co. In 1880 she was 19 years of age and her occupation was given as school teacher.

Very soon after the 1880 census was taken she married WILLIAM F. BUMSTEAD 4 July 1880 in Otoe Co. Nothing more is known of him.

Eudora wrote several poems and stories, mainly for children, and some were published after she married. I have a copy of The Little Red Hen. This was an old tale which she put into verse form. It appeared in the St. Nicholas Magazine in September 1885. I found this in the Library of Congress. This same version was in my Reader when I was in the first grade in school. Others older than I have told me that it was in their reader, too. In my third grade Reader there was another poem by her. This was about a little brown house under an apple tree. Someone in her family said they had a collection of her writings, but I never did see it and was not able to find who has it. I believe her mother also did some writing.

I have been able to find no further record of Eudora and William. I have searched records of Otoe Co. for them to no avail. I believe they must have moved from that county. At the time her parents moved to California in 1891 only the two youngest children were living so Eudora must have died before that time.

It is not known whether or not Eudora and William had any children.

(3)MARY ELIZABETH STONE was born ca 1871 in Otoe Co., NE, a daughter of W. Burchard Stone and Delia H. Cornell. She moved with her parents and younger brother to California in 1891.

She married MERRITT LINCOLN WALLACE 5 February 1913 in Ontario, San Bernardino Co., CA. He was born ca 1866 in NY, a son of Hiram Wallace and Sarah C. Nichols. Both of them were born in NY. Merritt was 47 at the time of marriage. He owned a ranch in Brawley (in Imperial Valley). Mary was single, living in Ontario, and was a bookkeeper.

Mary helped take care of her mother when she was at Oliver's home near Riverside in the early 1920's. It is not known whether or not her husband was living at that time. I believe he died before she did but have no record of his death. Mary died in Ontario 26 November 1962 at age 92 and was buried in Ontario.

This couple had no children.

(3)OLIVER WENDELL STONE was born in 1874 in Otoe Co., NE, a son of W. Burchard Stone and Delia H. Cornell. He moved with his parents and sister to California in 1891 at age 17.

He married IDA CORNELIA VAN RENSSELEAR 18 November 1897 in Ontario, San Bernardino Co., CA. She was born 12 April 1874 in MN. Names of her parents are not known.

Oliver and Ida had a ranch with large orchards at Pigeon Pass near Riverside in the early 1920's. Our family went to visit there when I was seven or eight years old. At the time of our visit Oliver's mother was old and senile staying with them and his sister, Mary, was there also, helping to care for her mother. They had a shetland pony which their son had outgrown and we children had a great time riding it.

Oliver died 2 February 1947 in Riverside, CA, and was buried in Ontario. He was age 72. Ida died 28 September 1948 at age 74 in Winter Park, FL, (near Orlando) and was buried in Ontario, CA. Apparently she had gone to live with her son in Winter Park after Oliver died.

(4)WENDELL C. STONE was born 15 June 1901 in Ontario, San Bernardino Co., CA, a son of Oliver W. Stone and Ida C. Van Rensselear (sp?). At the time of a visit by our family to Wendell'sparents near Riverside he was in college in southern California and was home for a weekend.

Very lttle more is known of him. He probably married. For many years he lived at Winter Park, FL, and taught at Rawlins College at Winter Haven. His mother went to stay with him after his father died and she died there.

He was found in the phone book of that area in the 1970's. I also found a W.C. Stone in Orlando, FL, which is very near Winter Park. I guessed that this W.C. Stone might be a son of Wendell. I wrote to them both, but received no answer.

(2)MARY ANGELINE STONE AND EDWARD CHARLES LEWIS

Mary was born 12 May 1835 in New York, a daughter of Henry Stone and Tabitha Tuttle. She went to Indiana with her family at about age two.

She married EDWARD CHARLES LEWIS 29 August 1856 in La Porte Co., IN. According to a family Bible he was born 25 April 1831 and may have been son of Walter and Ann Lewis of La Porte Co. It is not known what occupation Edward followed, but he was probably a farmer.

There are pictures in the family of Mary alone and of Mary and Edward together. They were taken in Laramie, WY, probably in the 1880's or 1890's. No records of them have been found in that area so I feel they must have been visiting their son, Walter, who was living there. They were not found in the various censuses of La Porte Co., either.

There are tombstones in Oak Grove Cemetery in Wills Township in the eastern part of La Porte Co. for an Edward Lewis and his wife, Mary A. Lewis. If these are for this Mary and Edward the birth dates are not correct. The birth dates I have are from family Bibles and are about ten years earlier than those on the tombstones. Lewis is a common name, but it seems unlikely that there would be another Edward and Mary A. in that area. According to the tombstone Edward died 21 April 1909 and Mary died in 1924. The tombstone also said that Edward was a Civil War veteran.

Mary had her parents' family Bible. Data was copied from it and sent around to the various nièces and nephews by Mary's brother, Burchard. No one knows what became of the Bible.

Child: (3)

Walter Edward - Born 15 August 1858 in Michigan City, La Porte Co., IN.

There was a rumor in the family that this couple also had a daughter, but nothing is known of her.

(3)WALTER EDWARD LEWIS was born 15 August 1858 in Michigan City, IN, a son of Mary A. Stone and Edward C. Lewis. Sometime before marriage he went to Laramie, Albany Co., WY. It is not known what his occupation was there, but he may have been a farmer.

He married DOROTHY (Dorotha) JANE HIXSON (called Jane) 16 February 1881 in Laramie, WY. She was born 19 February 1864 in MO, a daughter of John H. and Narcissa Hixson. Nothing more is known of them.

It is not known what year they moved to Washington or if they moved there directly from Laramie. They lived on a small farm near Marysville, Snohomish Co., WA, for many years. They probably moved there before 1910.

They had no children of their own.

Walter died 28 January 1933 in Everett, Snohomish Co., and was buried in Marysville. Jane moved to Everett and lived there a short time. She had a stroke and died 27 May 1936 in Everett. She was also buried in Marysville.

Children: (Adopted)

1. W. Charles - Born probably in the 1880's. It is not known whether he was taken to raise or was legally adopted. He used the surname of Lewis. The family story says that when he found out, after he was grown, that he was not really the child of Walter and Jane that he left home and would have nothing more to do with them. I have found no one who knows anything more of him.
2. Minnie - Born ca 1910. She was adopted in Seattle in 1910, probably as a baby. She lived with Walter and Jane until her marriage in the early 1920's to Joe N. Thatcher. She cared for Jane for a time before her death in 1936. In the 1970's Minnie was living in the town of Snohomish.

(2) BENJAMIN FRANKLIN STONE AND MYRANDA CRAIG

Benjamin was born 1 October 1838 in or near Michigan City, La Porte Co., IN, a son of Henry Stone and Tabitha Tuttle. He was sometimes called Frank and sometimes Ben. He was found at home in the 1850 census of La Porte Co. in Clinton Township. He was also there in the 1860 census, age given as 21 and occupation farmer. He was in Otoe Co., NE, near his brother, W. Burchard Stone, in the 1865 Nebraska State census.

He married MYRANDA CRAIG 9 November 1869 in Otoe Co., NE. She was born 10 March 1845 probably in IN. Her name has been spelled various ways. It was Myanda on the marriage record and Amanda in the 1885 State census. Nothing is known of her parents except that her father was probably born in Maine and her mother in New York.

Benjamin and Myranda were not found in the 1870 census of Otoe Co., but they were there in Unadilla in the 1880 and 1885 censuses. Benjamin's occupation was given as hotel keeper.

They took a niece, Carrie Amanda Stone, to raise. She was a daughter of Benjamin's brother, Norman, who lived in Pawnee Co., NE. Carrie's mother died when she was about four years old and soon after that Benjamin and Myranda took her. They had no children of their own. They later adopted a boy, Winfield Watham or Waltham.

This family moved to western Banner Co., NE, and had a homestead there. They later lived in Clinton, MO, and then in Indian Territory in Oklahoma. When they left Banner Co. [according to the book, Longhorns North Of The Arkansas, by Ralph Jones] Benjamin traded his homestead for a watch. He didn't leave much when he died, but the watch was in the family for a long time. It was called "Big Ben".

Benjamin died 14 March 1916 in Wagoner, Wagoner Co., OK. After his death Myranda went to Goshen Co., WY, to stay with Carrie Stone Jones. She died there 28 May 1916. She was buried at Hull, Banner Co., NE, just across the Wyoming border.

Children:

1. Carrie Amanda - See account of her with Norman Stone's children.

2. Winfield Waltham (probably adopted) - Born ca 1877 probably in NE. He was with Benjamin and Myranda in the 1880 and 1885 censuses of Otoe Co. He later lived in southeastern Wyoming and died in Cheyenne. He had some children. He has a daughter living in southeastern WY now.

(2)WILLIAM HARRISON STONE AND MARY B. THOMAS

William Harrison (usually called Harrison) was born 19 December 1840 in La Porte Co., IN, a son of Henry Stone and Tabitha Tuttle. He moved to Otoe Co., NE, ca 1865.

He married MARY B. THOMAS 1 January 1867 in Otoe Co. She was born ca 1850 in OH, a daughter of John and Bethsheba Thomas who were both born in PA, he ca 1819 and she ca 1817. This family was found in the 1865 State census of Otoe Co. Mary's age was given as 15. His name on the marriage record was Harrison Stone.

Very little is known of this couple. They were not found in any of the censuses of Otoe Co., NE. There was some indication that Harrison lived in northern California, but I haven't been able to find him there. I have a small picture of them probably taken in Nebraska soon after their marriage. No date is given on it.

In a letter from Ernest V. Stone, a nephew of Harrison, he said his father, James E. Stone, had told him that Harrison was killed by a train while traveling with a horse and wagon in Chariton, IA. He also said, "He must have gone from northern California to Iowa." The Department of Vital Statistics in Iowa said they did not have a Death Certificate for Harrison Stone, or similar name.

It is not known whether or not Harrison and Mary had any children.

(2)JAMES EDWARD STONE, LURENA MAE GEORGE, AND SARAH JANE SPARKS

James was born 19 December 1842 near Michigan City, La Porte Co., IN, a son of Henry Stone and Tabitha Tuttle.

During the Civil War he enlisted in the Fifteenth Rigiment Indiana Volunteers, Company G, Infantry, with the rank of Private. He enlisted in Westville, IN, and was mustered in in Lafayette, IN. His military record shows he was ill with diarrhea January to March of 1862 and was hospitalized in New Haven, KY, in April and June of 1862. In July of 1862 he had typhoid fever. He was discharged 11 August 1862 in Morrisville, AL, with a diagnosis of "Incipient phthisis pulmonalis possibly leading to consumption".

After discharge he went to Nebraska City, Otoe Co., NE, where he had three brothers. In 1865 he crossed the plains from Nebraska City by ox team. His first stop was Older Creek, MT, where he lived one year. In 1886 he moved to Walla Walla Co., WA. It is not known what he did there. Some time in the 1870's he located in Kittitas Valley near Ellensburg, WA, then Yakima Co. In 1885 he settled in the upper Colockum Creek Valley between Ellensburg and Wenatchee.

James purchased 160A of land under the Desert Land Act of 1877. This was north of Ellensburg in the Colockum Pass area in Kittitas Co. (later it was Chelan Co.). He was found in this area in the 1880 census, but he applied for this land in 1886. He was required to make improvements and actually raise crops on it before he could get a patent on it. He got this in 1898. After he applied for this land it was discovered that part of the land was claimed by another person and he had quite a time getting that straightened out. This land was discribed as being sage brush land with no trees and not capable of producing crops without irrigation. James had to dig a ditch by hand from a creek to his property. It was three miles long, three feet wide, and twelve to fifteen inches deep, and then smaller ditches over his land. He had paid $1.25 an Acre for this land. He raised crops of 15 to 25 acres the first season and 35 to 40 acres the next season. He raised vegetables, wheat, oats, and barley. His final certificate was approved in 1891. Starting with 160A James increased his ranch to 600A and raised cattle.

The 1880 census of Yakima Co., East Kittitas Precinct, shows James Stone with Martha George and her children, Lurena, Phillip, and William, in the household. It is said that Martha was someone he knew in Indiana. She was apparently keeping house for him. James' oldest daughter, Amy, was a daughter of Martha George. Nothing is known of what happened to Martha after Amy's birth in 1881.

James married LURENA MAE GEORGE 7 April 1882 in Yakima, WA. She was a daughter of Martha George. Her age in the 1880 census was given as ten. That would have made her only twelve at the time of marriage. Censuses aren't always correct.

In a biographical account in A History Of Central Washington, by Lindley M. Hull, published in 1929, the following is related: "_ _ _ _ for during some winters the snow became so deep as to shut out travel, making the isolation of the Stone ranch well nigh complete. Such was the winter of 1886-1887 when in February, expecting a visit from the stork, Mr. Stone saddled two horses and started for Ellensburg to get a doctor. To avoid deep snow he had to make a wide detour toward the Columbia River. When the doctor was advised of Mr. Stone's errand, though a humane man, he seemed appalled at the hazards of such a journey, which, at first, he hesitated to make. But Mr. Stone admonished him that he had no right to shirk the responsibilities of a case involving life and death; and he further said, 'Expense is no consideration, and, while I have no money, you are at liberty to levi on my band of cattle as a guarantee of pay.' The result was that both men were mounted and rapidly swinging across the broad valley of the Kittitas toward the foothills of the mountains. But as mountain ridge after mountain ridge was crossed with vast stretches of snow the doctor feared he was lost. However, the sense of direction and location was as keen in Mr. Stone as in an Indian and the ranch was safely reached. When the visit was terminated Mr. Stone provided for the safe return of the doctor to Ellensburg.

The infant daughter who opened her eyes in the Stone household so blissfully unconscious of life's tragedies, was later destined as a sacrifice to the hazards of life, for the following September both mother and daughter were seriously ill. To secure medical attention as soon as possible, they were placed in a wagon to be driven to Ellensburg, but before reaching their destination, Mrs. Stone died, literally choking to death with diphtheria, and the child also died from the effects of the same malady."

James married second SARAH JANE SPARKS 7 August 1890 in Seattle, King Co., WA. She was born 6 June 1861 in Leavenworth, Leavenworth Co., KS, a daughter of Robert Amiziah Sparks who was probably born in IN, and Sarah Ann Fowler who was also born in IN. Sarah Jane didn't like her name and adopted the name of Josephine and was called Josie by her family according to her sisters, Mary Rich and Emma Wilson. She was the oldest of eleven children. In 1880 she lived in Klickitat Co., WA, seven miles from Goldendale. In 1890 she worked in Fairhaven, Whatcom Co., WA, and in Mount Vernon, Skagit Co., WA. She married that year and moved to the Stone ranch in Kittitas Valley.

It was 22 miles from Wenatchee and 32 miles from Ellensburg. Most of this information was obtained from Sarah's pension application papers.

There was a narrow road going from Ellensburg to Wenatchee that went past the Stone ranch and it was a place to stop and rest and water the horses and for the travelers to rest.

James E. Stone was one of the signers to establish Chelan Co. in 1899.

About 1902 James sold his ranch on the Colockum. His family lived in Wenatchee for a time and then moved to Kirkland, WA, on the eastern shore of Lake Washington across from Seattle. His son, Ernest, remembers going to school there.

It is not known where he went next from Washington. In his pension application he mentions living in Alberta, Can., Phoenix, AZ, Florida and New Mexico. I have a copy of a letter written to him by his brother, Burchard, to Logan, NM.

James returned to Central Washington on a visit, at age 84, and gave the information for his biography in the Central Washington history.

James first filed for a pension 5 December 1890, but was rejected because he was not notably disabled under the Act of 27 June 1890. He was first awarded a pension of $6 per month on 3 July 1905. His pension was increased to $12 a month 8 March 1907; to $16 per month in 1912; to $20 and then to $24 in 1917. He received $72 a month from 1924 until his death.

In his pension application James describes himself as being five feet, eight inches in height with light complexion, gray eyes and dark hair, occupation farmer. There are papers filed in Logan, Quay Co., NM, in June 1912 and one in April 1915 filed in Las Cruces, NM, in which he names all his children living or dead.

It is not known when James and Sarah moved to Los Angeles, CA, but James was in the National Military Home (called The Old Soldiers Home) in Sawtelle (Los Angeles) in the early 1920's. Sarah was living in Los Angeles. James died at that Home 25 November 1931.

James' children say he was a good provider and a very hard worker. His daughter, Amy, said that he worked very hard, but made his wives and children work very hard, too.

Sarah Jane applied for a pension as a Civil War widow immediately after James' death. She had some problems proving her birth. Her son, Ernest, was helping her. She had affidavits from two of her sisters and a Bible record of one of them. There are papers dated 1933 and 1934, also. She did receive a pension - I don't know the amount - until her death 31 July 1940 in Long Beach, CA. Apparently both she and James were buried at the National Military Home at Sawtelle.

(3)AMY ENDORA STONE was born 30 August 1881 in Ellensburg, Kittitas Co., WA, a daughter of James E. Stone and Martha George Benifield. Her surname was given as George in the 1880 census. It is not known whether her maiden name was Benifield or if she had been married to a Benifield. It is not known whether Martha and her family stayed with James after Amy's birth or if they left. There are several years unaccounted for before Amy is known to have been living with her father and his second wife. Amy was reluctant to talk of this part of her life. She spent some years on the Stone ranch at Colockum Creek before going to Seattle to stay with her aunt , Sabra, (her father's sister) and her husband to go to school.

She married RALPH WILLIAM MORRIS 2 September 1900 in Arlington, Snohomish Co., WA. He was born 16 April 1873 in Indian Territory, OK, a son of John Worren Morris and Louise Evangeline _____. John was a sheriff in Oklahoma for a time. He signed a note for a friend. When that man didn't pay his debt John Morris lost everything and that's when they moved to Snohomish Co., WA. They were farmers. Ralph was the oldest of eight children. John and Louise died and were buried in Arlington.

Amy and Ralph lived in Seattle for many years. All of their children were born there. Ralph worked for the Northern Pacific Railroad for about all his working life. For a time he was Roadmaster for the Northern Division. Amy's Aunt Sabra lived with them after her husband died and she became older. She died while living there.

Ralph died in April 1936 in Tacoma, WA, in the Northern Pacific Hospital there. He was buried in Arlington, WA.

Sometime after Ralph's death and after all her children had left home, Amy sold her home in Seattle and bought a home north of Seattle at Kenmore on the Sammamish River. She raised chickens and sold the eggs to special customers in and around Seattle. She would deliver them on certain days. She was a hard worker.

As she got older she lived with her daughter, Erma, who also lived at Kenmore. Her daughter, Marjorie, and her family lived in Amy's house. The last few years of her life she lived with Marjorie. She died 23 January 1972 while living at Kenmore and was also buried in Arlington.

Alvin was a Certified Public Accountant when he was first married and he went to work for Darigold. He worked up to be president of Snohomish County Dairymen's Association. Betty was a legal secretary before marriage, but didn't work outside her home afterwards.

Alvin and Betty probably lived in Marysville all their married lives. They owned vacation property at Robe on the Stillaguamish River in Snohomish Co. All the members of the Morris family had property there in one area.

John and Shirley settled on a farm in Ephrata, Grant Co., WA, soon after their marriage (1951). They cleared the land and built a home. John was a good farmer and never lost a crop. Because of his diabetes he became blind in 1967, but continued farming with the help of his sons and some hired help. He continued to add acreage. For recreation he listened to talking books and sports and went fishing. Their sons worked on the farm during summer vacations.

A newspaper article in the Seattle Post Intelligencer in 1974 told of John's blindness and his success in farming. Another in a Wenatchee newpaper in 1978 told of an homor of a Good Neighbor Award by the Chamber of Commerce in Ephrata for both John and Shirley.

About 1979 John had to have both legs amputated below the knee due to poor circulation as a result of his diabetes. This limited his activity so much he was quite depressed and could no longer carry on the farm work. He died at his home 8 August 1981.

Shirley continues to live in the same home and has a partnership with her sons under the name of Morris Farms. With irrigation they raise crops of potatoes, dry beans, corn, wheat, and seed crops of carrots, kale, and alfalfa.
